WE NOMINATE

Peter Frederick Rothermel 4th, 39-year old educator and third headmaster of 34-year old Princeton Country Day School, who moves into the spotlight in the week ahead with P.C.D.'s opening with a record enrollment of 188 boys. Succeeding Henry B. Ross, whose resignation became effective last June, Rothermel this summer completed what he terms "an accelerated education in itself"—familiarizing himself with the kind of 'round-the-clock job that ranges from schedule-making and faculty assignments to such mundane matters as crawling under and around furnaces in checking the school's physical plant.

Philadelphia-born, and a member of the Princeton Class of 1942, Rothermel brings to his assignment variety and depth of experience which bode well for P.C.D.'s continuing development as one of New Jersey's top-ranking "junior schools" (grades four through nine). In June he rounded out his first decade as a teacher-administrator, a period divided between The Gilman School, Baltimore, and St. George's School, Newport, R. I. At the latter, where he taught history for seven years, he also served as dean of discipline, director of athletics, head coach of football and assistant director of the summer session.

During his undergraduate years Rothermel, one of the few modern-day Princetonians to qualify for class numerals in four branches of freshman athletics, captained an all-winning 150-pound football team, played goalie on the varsity hockey team and earned honors in Economics. He enrolled in the Marine Corps as a private and returned to civilian life early in 1946 a combat-decorated captain. Trained as an artilleryman, he participated in three landings in the Pacific and over Iwo Jima won the Distinguished Flying Cross—an honor carried home by only a handful of air-borne artillery observers.

Like many World War II veterans, who jumped directly from college into the Armed Forces without opportunity to sample any sort of post-diploma career, Rothermel was not satisfied with his initial job-choice. He was moving rapidly up the ladder with a general insurance agency in Philadelphia when he decided in 1949, with the encouragement of his wife, the former Beatrice Downing Alexander, "to do something I always wanted to do—teach." He accepted a post at Gilman and three years later, by combining "night school" with teaching and coaching, received his master's degree in education from Johns Hopkins University.

At the start of his P.C.D. tenure, Rothermel radiates the same convictions that motivated his predecessors. He is concerned with "the basics"—solid grounding in mathematics, English, science, foreign language and history. If there are any extras, or added touches, in either the curricular or extra-curricular sense, they will supplement fundamental training. It is also his intention, at least at the outset, to strengthen his understanding of his school by teaching elementary science and by lending a hand whenever possible with the athletic program, notably in football and hockey.

For looking forward to the challenges he will face as his school squares up to the future; for agreeing with the unsung author who once described teaching as "the most responsible, the least advertised, the worst paid and yet the most richly rewarded profession in the world;" he is Town Topics' nominee for

TOWN MEETING
Time: Tuesday morning, September 9.
Place: Renwick's restaurant and coffee shop.
Harold Ostroff (manager of Renwick's): Since the Princeton Business Association is primarily interested in encouraging downtown trade, I suggest that the downtown businessmen provide free parking for downtown patrons. The Borough has almost 1,000 metered spaces available. Let's give them to our customers without charge.
John C. Yeoman (member of the PBA's board of directors): That's a good idea, but let's get to the main point of this meeting. Some of our members have agreed to try opening Thursday evenings from October through the first of the year.
Benjamin Brown (also a member of the PBA's board of directors): Merchants on Witherspoon Street have been open Friday evenings for 40 years. They won't go for Thursday night openings. If you switch to Thursday evenings, it will split the town—and that's what we've got now.
Loar L. Quickle (immediate past president of the PBA): Let's take a poll regarding Thursday or Friday night openings and abide by the results. Let the majority rule.
Louis Verbeyst (still another member of the PBA's board of directors): When would the public like us to be open?
Yeoman: Assuming we conduct a new poll, we should ask the businessmen if they will switch nights if the majority wants a night they don't want.

Record-Breaking Issue
This issue of Town Topics, running to 48 pages, is the largest ever published since it first appeared in March, 1946. Measured by the number of column inches of news, pictures and advertising, it is 18 times larger than Vol. I, No. 1. Largely responsible for the record high is a 14-page advertising section announcing the opening of the new University Store on Friday at 36 University Place. However, other display advertising is greater than in the corresponding issue of a year ago and the volume of classified ads this week is the largest ever published in Princeton. Circulation, too, is at an all-time high, totalling 11,027. The issue also marks a partial change in the method of distribution in some areas in town. In order to provide pre-breakfast delivery on Thursdays, hundreds of Princeton area homes will henceforth receive their copies through the Princeton and Nassau News Services. Mail deliveries will continue to all other homes and places of business, thus completing Town Topics blanket coverage in and around Princeton.

ing): Changing the subject, I'd like to point out that last year we endorsed the Mayor's Committee on Parking—and we haven't vacillated since that time. We're appreciative of the new Witherspoon parking lot, but we're still interested in development of the west side of the Tulane Street area, especially with the former Titus property for sale. Yet, Councilman Culman has reversed himself regarding Tulane, and now he thinks we should wait until we see the results of the Witherspoon lot. By the way, where is that committee?
Edmund D. Cook (member of the PBA's board of directors): I urge active reactivation of the Mayor's Committee on Parking!
Verheyst: Good enough, but I'm opposed to the word "condemnation" when it comes to the Tulane Street area.
Turner: Let me assure you that I'm just quoting Council when I tell you about recent delays. I'm not stating my personal feelings, but merely the thoughts of the Princeton Business Association's committee on parking.
Edward A. Clohossey (president of the PBA): It's my impression that the Moore-Park-Vandeventer area is Council's primary parking target right now.
Quickle: We shouldn't change our objective.
Clohossey: Borough Hall won't do anything to help the parking problem after the Witherspoon lot. We've got to do the pushing.
Yeoman: Maybe they're trying to make the PBA a scapegoat—and it shouldn't be.
Someone: Forget it! We know what our parking recommendations are for the present. Let's stick by them. It's too tough to tell what Council's—or even the PBA's—plans will be for the future!

BOROUGH AFFAIRS

East-End Parking? Parking and the eastern end of the Borough's business district bounded back into the news at Tuesday's session of Mayor and Council, with Mayor Male reporting that the Borough is exploring with Theodore R. Potts, Inc., the possibility of providing some 70 metered parking places on the Potts-owned tract at 245 Nassau Street. The Mayor's announcement of preliminary discussions with Mr. Potts, beamed at a parking solution for an area now lacking an estimated 40-50 parking spaces, came on the heels of the Planning Board's approval of the Borough's planned acquisition and development of an already dedicated 16-foot wide strip, which would provide an Olden Avenue outlet for deep lots facing on Nassau Street.

Taken together (see Report from the Mayor, page 8), the two steps—the right-of-way, paralleling Nassau Street and extending from Olden towards Murray Place, and the development of the 44,500 square-foot Potts lot—suggest the strong possibility of tapping for new uses comparatively large land areas abutting main thoroughfares.

With Council's authorization, the Mayor will carry forward negotiations centering about such factors as the allocation of some 30,000 square feet for metered Borough use, the probabilities of enlisting the cooperation of the adjoining Sinclair Service Station and the N.J. Bell Telephone Company and the execution of a long-range agreement with Mr. Potts based upon tax-abatement and/or land-rentals.

"Very preliminary estimates" prepared by Engineer I. Russell Riker show that the cost to the Borough of preparing 70 parking spaces (occupying some 30,000 of the total of 44,500 square feet) would come to approximately $17,500, while the cost of constructing the Olden Avenue cutlet, once the strip had been acquired, would approximate $1,500.

Other figures balking large in the negotiations ahead are the total appraised value of the Potts property (including buildings), $100,800; appraisal of land projected for public parking, some $17,000; and annual estimated tax on that part of the property "blueprinted" for metered parking, $900-plus.

Police Study. In the near future the Borough will engage, on the unanimous recommendation of the Police Committee (Councilmen Farr, Mather and Coyler), a nationally known "outsider expert" to carry forward a searching study of the municipality's Police Department.

While the Borough, as one Councilman put it, "is extremely proud of the Department, it seems sound in the present transitional period to undertake an analysis of all police procedures, with particular emphasis on the development of modern record-systems, administration and personnel records." Mayor Male reported that "two or three outstanding candidates" are available for the study.

Westcott Road Objects. The passage of an "omnibus parking measure," restricting parking on nearly a dozen different Borough streets, has been delayed until a special meeting of Mayor and Council on Thursday, September 18, at 8.

Objections voiced by three Westcott Road residents, George V. Cresson, J. Seymour Montgomery and Henry S. Patterson, resulted in the Council's deletion of Westcott Road from an ordinance imposing two-hour parking restrictions. The deletion, constituting a "major change," necessitated the introduction of a revised ordinance at Tuesday's meeting and the rescheduled public hearing on the 18th.

FIGURES LOOK GOOD

Township Assessments Level. Annual municipal assessment statistics, to be presented to the Mercer County Tax Board by October 1, indicate another healthy year for Princeton Township. Stuart Robson, the municipality's tax assessor, told the Township Committee at its September meeting Monday evening. According to the assessor's final calculations for 1958, added Township assessments will total $4,364,200, or very close to last year's excellent high of $4,542,900.

Commenting on the favorable situation, Mayor Horford noted that, despite this year's recession period, the Township "has gained almost $1,000,000 in residential ratables over the previous year." He based his observation on the fact that the Institute for Advanced Study's housing project accounted for $1,361,000 of 1957's assessment total, while no such pre-ct was constructed during 1952.

Mr. Robson said 60 more individual units were built in the municipality this year than in 1951 "quite an increase." Largest of all was Opinion Research Corporation's $380,000 job on North Harrison Street, followed by the Italian-American Sportsmen's Club's $95,000 installation on Journey's End Road.

For the benefit of Snowden Lane residents in particular and users of Snowden Lane in general, Calvin O. Schofield, Township engineer, reported on the progress of that street's many construction projects, which have benefited citizens for some weeks now. Installation of a storm sewer is scheduled to begin this week, adding to the overall confusion, but it is to be a 10-day job, he assured, and then there will be no work there for the rest of the year.

Mr. Schofield said the bridge over Harry's Brook, except for curbing, will be completed in a matter of days, paving of the Nassau-to-Franklin portion of Snowden will be finished by next Wednesday and installation of the Avernath-to-Overbrook sanitary sewer will be completed this Thursday or Friday. "The whole job should be done within three weeks," he concluded.

Though Monday's two-hour session was a fairly routine one, the Committee also:

● Assured Professor David A. McCabe of Herenton Road, an advocate of the recently-denied ban on hunting in the Township, that special police officers and an extra police car will patrol "critical areas" during the hunting season.

The weather is a tough call these days, what with the transition from summer to autumn and temperature variations of more than 30 degrees. Last week, for example, the maximum was a muggy 82 and the minimum a chill 50.

● Told Mrs. Elmer Alpert of Autumn Road that a check will be made to determine what the Committee can do in answer to her complaint that Kingston Trap Rock Company continues to set off powerful dynamite blasts which blow dishes off her walls and toss her dog in the air.

● Accepted, with regret, the resignation of Robert J. Shaw, 133 Calverly Drive East, from the five-man Board of Adjustment, stressing the unusual but important task performed by such citizens and asking that Mr. Shaw attend the board's September meeting, if possible, since a replacement may not be named before October.

● Learned from Joseph R. Nini, Township clerk, that his office will aid prospective election registrants by being open from 9 a.m. to noon September 20 and from 7 to 9 p.m. September 24 and 25 (the deadline for registration).

● Heard a request from William L. Wilson, president of the Township Board of Education, regarding a sanitary sewer for the Riverside section, where a new school soon will be built, and asked Mr. Schofield to determine the sentiments of Riverside property owners on the subject before the Committee's next meeting.

● Approved unanimously a sanitary sewer for Harrison Street North and acceptance of Stony Brook Lane into the municipality's street system, subject only to final installation of a base and binder on the lane's circle.

● Authorized the engineering department to okay a street light at the Pardoe-Westerly intersection, requested by Fred T. Richards, 19 Pardoe, providing the light is needed.

● Listened to but took no action on the objections of Henry J. Frank, 273 Jefferson Road, who again insisted that "equality of burden" was violated in the matter of sidewalks along sections of Valley Road and then complained specifically about the sidewalk-prompted removal of a large, beautiful shade tree of the northeast corner of Valley and Jefferson (the corner on which Mr. Frank's residence is located).

Tallman Bissell, 41, of 89 Cleveland Lane, who reportedly drove his car into a stone wall, was fined a total of $55 for leaving the scene of an accident and $10 for failure to have a driver's license in his possession. In other traffic mishaps, the magistrate imposed an assessment of $20 and a license revocation of 30 days on Ronald Adlers of Franklin Park, who was found guilty of speeding, and a fine of $20 on Mrs. S. K. Tung, 120 Prospect Avenue, for careless driving.

James Hall, 63 Birch Avenue, a familiar face at Township Hall, was sent to the Mercer County workhouse for six months as a result of beating his wife, Daisy Mae Hall.

News Of The THEATRES

THE PLAYHOUSE

La Parisienne (September 11-13), in French with English dubbed in, features the incomparable Brigitte Bardot in a light, frothy film which is clearly understandable regardless of the confusion generated by French mouths that don't jibe with the English supposedly coming from them. Though only occasionally amusing, it is an elaborately produced comedy of marital flirtations and infidelity—with luscious Brigitte's personality so much in evidence that it can hardly be labelled a "family" picture. Charles Boyer and Henri Vidal are excellent in support of Mlle. Bardot, who needs very little, while the Technicolor photography in and around Paris is beautiful.

The Badlanders (September 14-16) are Alan Ladd and Ernest Borgnine, and they are very bad indeed. They spend most of the movie planning and executing the robbery of a fat gold mine, then make good their escape in a wild shoot-'em-up. Of course, the daring thievery is justified because the boys merely steal from people who had robbed or cheated them in the past. After an involved, slow start, the film moves at a rapid, absorbing and suspenseful pace, developing into a much better-than-average "western." Contributing factors include CinemaScope, Metrocolor, director Delmer Daves and a fine supporting cast, topped by Katy Jurado, newcomer Claire Kelly and Kent Smith.

Around the World in 80 Days (starts September 17) is the fabled, final production of the late Mike Todd, a magnificent effort that won "best picture" honors for the year 1956 and also copped 51 other prizes for high cinematism. Based on Jules Verne's 1873 novel, Todd's jumbo extravaganza-expedition—with trenchantly humorous screenplay by S. J. Perelman—is a three-hour Technicolored spectacular packed with thrills, comedy, slapstick, adventure, breathtaking scenery and around-the-world flavor.

The plot on which the film's series of startling events is strung, deals with a bet made by an English gentleman, played delightfully by David Niven. He sets out round the world with his man servant, able Mexican actor Cantinflas, after wagering members of his London club that he can circle the globe in 80 days flat. As this is 1872, that represents quite a feat. The stake is 20,000 pounds.

Niven and Cantinflas hold center stage most of the time, but they receive tremendous aid from a host of big-name Hollywood stars. Particularly outstanding are the late Robert Newton, Shirley MacLaine, Marlene Dietrich, Beatrice Lillie, Charles Boyer, Sir Cedric Hardwicke, Noel Coward and Peter Lorre. The Playhouse gets "80 Days" two years after its original release and can't handle the special Todd-AO version, but the picture is well worth the wait and the CinemaScope edition is excellent.

THE GARDEN

Your Past is Showing (September 11-13), concentrating on blackmail with attempted homicide thrown in for kicks, once again proves that the British are grade-A in the field of satiric whimsy with a soupçon of macabre. As is sometimes the case with comedy of this sort, the plot gets a little forced by the time the conclusion is reached, but the overall product is bright and often very amusing. Particularly amusing is Peggy Mount who, with the aid of her mousy daughter, tries to carry out an elaborately timed trunk murder. Terry-Thomas, most recently seen in "Blue Murder at St. Trinians," and Dennis Price, the homicidal hero of "Kind Hearts and Coronets," are excellent as a henpecked bon vivant and a blackmailer, respectively.

"PLANET" PLANNER: James Graves, a Princeton Community Players' actor of several seasons' standing, scans a copy of "Visit to a Small Planet," which he will direct for production by the Players in November. Tryouts for the comedy are scheduled for 8 p.m. September 17 and 18 at the Playmill on Alexander Street. Planning his initial plunge as a director, Graves says he will merely be "an actor seeing actors' problems."

Ballet at APARRI SCHOOL OF DANCE

REGISTRATION

Mondays through Fridays
from three to five at 180
Nassau Street. Telephone
WA 4-1822.

Aparri School of Dance is directed by Mila Gibbons who was trained in Paris by Leo Staats, ballet master, Paris Opera, and Vaslav Veltchek, ballet master, Chatelet Theatre. She was a professional dancer in European, American and Far Eastern tours before becoming a dance teacher. As a teacher, she studied at Teachers College, Columbia, and Dalcroze Institute, Geneva. She is a member of the National Academy of Ballet.

Aparri School of Dance offers training in Ballet, Modern Dance, Ballroom, and Body Technique (exercise classes), for children and adults. Each kind of dancing is taught by a teacher especially trained in his field, and each class devotes the whole hour to study of that one form of dance which the student has chosen. No class offers a mixture of three kinds of dance.

Ballet classes are taught by Miss Gibbons, beginning with Ballet I through II, III, and IV to Full Pointe Technique. Pre-Ballet for children 5, 6, and 7 years old, is a special field in itself and is taught by a teacher trained to teach this age group. The popular classes in Modern Dance, one of which is in the evening, are given by a modern dancer who has specialized in this form of art.

For further information, please telephone Mila Gibbons, preferably mornings, at WA 4-1822.

FOUR FAMOUS FACES: There are many big-name stars in the magnificent motion picture, "Around the World in 80 Days," but four of the biggest — (left to right) Cantinflas, David Niven, Marlene Dietrich and Frank Sinatra — get together for the memorable scene shown above. The film opens a two-week run at the Playhouse next Wednesday.

20), in French with English titles, is a fairly faithful movie version of Stendhal's classic novel, "The Red and the Black." Set in the French Restoration period (1830) and brilliantly filmed, this two hour and 17-minute import is a mature, absorbing, elaborate and meticulously designed drama depicting the meteoric rise and tragic fall of an ambitious peasant youth who seduces women and misuses the Church to advance himself. A bit tedious and unbelievable on occasion, "Rouge et Noir" nonetheless is authentically costumed, magnificently photographed and superbly acted. Gerard Philippe and Danielle Darrieux and the marquee personalities with a strong following here.

LAWRENCE DRIVE-IN

The Vikings (Sept. 12-18) are coated with big and bloody Technicolor, as everyone in the world must know by now, since United Artists and Kirk Douglas have spent more dollars than Scandinavia has fjords to ballyhoo their lavish production. And this is truly a bloody piece of cinemayhem. Douglas, as effervescent Einar, is attacked by a falcon which leaves his face in bright red shreds and one eye sightless. Tony Curtis, as illegitimate Eric, has his left hand lopped off by one swipe of a broad sword (fortunately, he's righthanded, so his ability as a lover remains unimpaired). As a special frosting on the cake of gore, Ernest Borgnine, as ruthless Ragnar, meets his death by being thrown into a pit full of starving wolves.

This is the first spectacular motion picture dedicated to the doings of those Viking terrorists who devoted the 8th and 9th Centuries to the task of upsetting the lives of peace-seeking folks in the British Isles and western Europe. Naturally, backer-star Douglas feels such a "first" deserves 114 minutes of treatment, even though the job of connecting a series of turbulent, years-apart events is loosely and poorly done and the impersonators, especially Curtis and Janet Leigh, are as convincing as Pat O'Brien might be in the role of Charlie Chan.

Despite many shortcomings, "The Vikings" may afford a lot of people a lot of entertainment. Its story is simple in the tradition of so much historical fiction, but it is also bold and brash in a style which appeals to a number of moviegoers. The scenes of spectacle, including breath-taking shots of Viking ships sailing along the mountainous coasts and a climactic battle atop an ancient English castle, are visually splen-

Show Must Go On

Manager Richard W. Knight had good reason to flash a broad smile this week. True, his theatre's $2,500 worth of velvet curtain and black masking must be replaced, but the fire that ruined them did not cause sufficient damage to necessitate replacement of the wide Playhouse screen—and, of greater importance, the blaze occurred while someone was in the auditorium, yet not while a crowd was there. Add to these points the fact that all will be in readiness for next Wednesday's opening of "Around the World in 80 Days."

The fire, probably instigated by a short circuit in a behind-the-screen curtain motor, was sighted at 11:15 a.m. September 3 by projectionist James Skillman, who fortunately happened to be working near the projection booth. He put the theatre's emergency hose to use, and soon was joined by volunteers from Hook & Ladder Company No. 1 and members of the Borough police force. Flames consumed the masking and smoke ruined the thick, fireproof curtain, but water damage to the screen was not as bad as the manager suspected on first glance.

In the tradition of show business, the September 3 matinee went on promptly at 3 o'clock.

did. For action lovers, there's plenty for everyone; in fact, a slight overdose for those with weak stomachs.

MUSIC CIRCUS

No Time for "Sergeants," Departing once again from its normal policy of presenting Broadway musicals, the Lambertville Music Circus next Tuesday evening will open a two-week run of the successful Main Stem comedy, "No Time for Sergeants." The laugh-packed play about Army life will move in less than 48 hours after the conclusion of "Damn Yankees," one of the brightest musicals ever offered on Music Mountain.

"Sergeants" will be presented at 8:30 p.m. Tuesday through Friday, with two performances—at 6 and 9:30 p.m.—Saturday and an 8 o'clock curtain Sunday. The successful, two-week stand of "Damn Yankees" will wind up this week end, with the now-customary two shows Saturday and the early start Sunday evening.

IT'S NEW To Us

A VELVET PANCAKE

Hats On. It's a big black velvet pancake of a hat, with a fold or two in the batter, and it's made to cap the tallest, most Junoesque beauty you know. There's a shallow crown to hold it on the head and the crown is lined with gold. A smaller royal blue one is wearable, too, but you'll like that black beauty.

Both these hats are part of a large new fall collection at Mary Gill's, 230 Nassau. Another formal hat has been formed of a twist of black velvet, a twist of taupe velvet and beige satin. There's a high green velvet one that looks like something a Swiss guard would wear. All hats are made to be high except for a raffish leather beanie, designed to hug your head when you drive the Jag.

The influence of the thirties appears in a floppy Garbo hat made of shaggy wool felt and banded with a pheasant's feather. Colors are bright orange, beige or olive green. And wait until you see the mop wig: shaggy woolen yarn loops sewn all over a jersey cloche in red, gold or royal.

The olive green we mentioned above appears in many forms this fall. You'll find it in a simple monard dress, round neck, three-quarter sleeves, bloused waist. In a paler shade, it appears again in a chiffon-over-tulle cocktail shirt dress, full skirt, wide belt, rhinestone cuff links. Or, in an olive green crepe afternoon dress, belted natural waistline with flatter folds at the satin collared neckline. And for everyday, you'll see the color in a pale dusty apple green skirt, to wear with stripes or plaids.

Suits at Mary Gill this fall are very special: three pieces in matched tweeds, classic in cut, new in price. Most of them are $35 for the three pieces: a straight skirt, shorter, fitted jacket and topcoat in full or seven-eighths length.

In one suit, the tweed combines that gray green with tomato red in the belted seven-eighths topcoat

For Small Potatoes

Pert young spuds who like to be fashionable have, of course, abandoned the sack for the Empire waistline. But it will be a long time before fashionists will forget the chemise.

The latest wag to exploit the bag is a clever gentleman who has invented a potato sack, "guaranteed to lose shape without ironing." It's made of potato sack, costs $1, and is designed to be filled with "100 pounds or more of chains."

You can create your own, once you have the basic model, because the sack has red lines outlining the trapeze ("cut here"), the balloon skirt and even, so high-style is this creation, the Empire waist. Buy it at the Princeton Gift Shop, 13 Palmer Square, try it on your next cocktail guest.

while the suit itself uses dark green only. In another, heather purple and green have been mixed to make a small tweed in the suit, a larger pattern in the coat. There are also warm combinations of gold and dark brown, teal blue and heather purple.

If the classics are too sober for you, Mary Gill has a mustard corduroy outfit with a straight skirt on a bodice, and a truncated dark gold blouse whose long sleeves edge out below the sleeves of a short belted jacket.

Hangers-on: printed velvet cocktail dress that looks like a stained glass window in deep purples, blues, greens... silk and wool party suit with wide cummerbund, bateau neck, three-quarter sleeves... orlon knit dress, crew neck, two-inch wide elasticized waistline, in black, toast, shrimp, red, royal, beige, navy... narrow wool skirt in horizontal bands of muted color that give it a handloomed look.

Id Have Written Snorer. But... Procrastinators who never can think up excuses for not writing may use, or adapt, some tall tales in the Stationery department at the Princeton Gift Shop, 13 Palmer Square. There's one that tells a lurid story of capture by Mau Maus.

Another explains that you've been adrift at sea, and one informs your correspondents that you were captured, Shanghaied, so to speak, by a Chinese laundryman. Well, you get the drift.

In the same vein, the shop has in its large assortment of bar supplies and entertaining accessories, some napkins called Grand Up-roar that take the title of any operative aria and translate it, freely and, shall we say, broadly. "La Nassa e Mobile" comes out "Donna e Gets Around," and shows us a well-endowed young woman surrounded by children from just about every race, color and creed.

"Una Voce Poco Fa" gets a straight-faced rendering: "A Little Voice I Hear." It's baby, waiting at night from his crib. There are plenty more.

Among the bar pieces you'll find a smoky blue glass decanter, slim and regally tall with its six glasses arranged around its base. There are gold and silver terry cloth jackets that are golf bags. Muddlers are clubs. A bar sponge announces itself as "for old socks and young squirts."

Desk accessories and bridge paraphernalia are available in abundance at the shop, and there are many attractive modern occasional pieces, like the Danish stainless steel ware: bowl, candy dish, napkin, all lined with enamel.

Perhaps the most spectacular ornament in the shop is the three-foot armillary sphere of brass. Try it in your fall garden.

Now It's Varsity. The conventional liquor store that used to be O'Kane's is now the Varsity, still at 234 Nassau and still providing the best in stock and service.

The store has its own label—Varsity Club gin, bourbon and a

Report from THE MAYOR

Planner Hird. Last week's meeting of the planning board produced some important decisions. By unanimous vote, the board approved Francis D. Hugh of New York City to be its consultant planner for the remainder of 1958.

In addition to presenting a broad background in municipal planning, Mr. Hird's proposal won the board's approval because he is familiar with the Borough, having drawn the original master plan and zoning ordinance; he agreed to give not less than two days a week of his personal attention to Borough work for the rest of the year; and he was immediately available.

Sleeves Rolled Up. Planner McHugh has already begun preparing some data in connection with the governing body's responsibility on urban renewal. Almost at once he will begin updating master plan and other material vital to intelligent decision-making at Borough Hall; and before year's end he will help to define certain basic local objectives, including possible modifications in Borough land use and zoning. Mr. McHugh will also attend the monthly meetings of the Planning Board and work closely with the Council Committee on the Future of Princeton.

Full Speed Ahead. The Mayor presented three key projects to the Planning Board, which, according to law, required board approval before public funds could be expended. The items, recently discussed and endorsed by Mayor and Council, included an important first step in easing traffic and parking problems in the business district on the eastern end of Nassau Street.

The board O.K'd the planned acquisition and development of the dedicated strip of land which parallels Nassau Street from Olden Avenue almost to Murray Place. The strip will open up the possibility of access to the rear of business properties and potential development of large unused areas for offstreet parking.

Meeting A Nerd. The second proposal development of a recreation spot on the old Borough Garage site was also given endorsement by the planning board. Mayor and Council had previously received a petition from residents of the area, pointing up the serious shortcomings of play space near the City Street smarties. The Joint Advisory Committee on Recreation will be asked to suggest ways by which maximum usefulness of this new recreation space can be assured.

A Green Strip. The third O.K. for a special project brought an authorization for the Mayor to negotiate with the Westminster Choir College for acquisition of the strip of land along Hamilton Avenue facing the Westminster campus. If this can be accomplished, there may be a possibility of using a portion of this for a play area for small youngsters in the Spruce Street area.

Red Tape Cut. Last Tuesday some Borough residents presented a petition requesting a patrolman or guard at the dangerous Harrison-Nassau intersection at school-closing hours. That night Council acted swiftly to authorize the recruitment of a special officer.

The Mayor typed a note to the press, delivered it late that night to the three local editors. Before the week was out, a retired guard, Thomas Nylotte, answered the call, was interviewed and hired by Acting Police Chief Mondone. When the school bell rang on Monday, the new crossing guard was on duty.

A Call For Help. Leonard Kraus, Chairman of the fund drive for Princeton's First Aid Squad and Rescue Unit, has asked the Mayor to issue a proclamation in behalf of this vital service for its kickoff Monday. Based on Princeton's record of support, we know that 1958 will prove no exception to the community's year by year endorsement of this work.

Open For Business. The new Witherspoon Parking Lot has had in full operation by the time this report is published. A few two-hour meters are placed along Witherspoon and Spring Streets, but the majority of meters in the new lot are ten-hour ones. This should help those who work in the area and have been unable to find space.

"Tell It to the Mayor." The regular weekly open house session will be held at Borough Hall from 7 to 10 p.m. on Thursday. No appointments are ever necessary.

One of the most convenient features at Varsity is the snack shelf where you can pick up potato chips, Fritos, Fizzarines, salted nuts, onions, olives and lemon juice in a plastic squeezer.

Outfitted in Underthings. Slips, gowns, girdles, lounging robes, pajamas—Edith's Lingerie Shop on Chambers Street covers the situation from the skin out.

Vesuvette produces a new Nylon for fall, in beige black with a front panel of ecru lace. Lily of France has "Enhance," with a high waist and satin panel front and back ($12.50). Lily also offers a long-legged panty girdle for the same price.

The heavier woman will welcome Trev's girdle with a satin front panel, all lined, a satin back and reinforced hips that are engineered to give a maximum of control.

For very young girls, Edith has that most important garment, the first blouse. These are sized from 30 to 34, one with banlon elastic strap and no back, the other with an elastic back. The fabric is white cotton, the cup size smaller than AA up to AA, price $2 and $2.50.

Here's a nightgown, or so it says, in white nylon with a high ruffled neckline ending in a flouncing jabot, long ruffled sleeves like the shirt of an 18th century dandy, and a juniper of bright coral quilted nylon. It's made by Ezy-wel and it is.

A Bermuda set has blue (red) plaid cotton flannel shorts and a solid color pajama top. Headed straight for the dormitory at $3.95. A plaid duster matches for $3.95.

A turquoise corduroy one-piece lounging pajama has a matching robe, a black and white striped robe is made of quilted cotton. . . . Vesuvette makes a washable . . . red and olive stripes go together in a lounging pajama with matching straight kimono.

For new dresses, new slips. Here's a white chemise; short, with a crotch, straight out of the twenties. Its companion is a white slip top that ends in a short bloomer. Ruffles are appropriately placed.

In hostery, Edith's paints a quiet rainbow, with "Blue Sky" (looks like a storm cloud to us), "Deep Magic", a brownish grey; "Night Time," very dark grey, and "Wine" that looks more like cherry than port.

The Borough tabulation:

	1958	1957	Change
Nassau St.	592	634	- 42
Quarry St.	318	315	+ 3
High School	1362	1333	+149

In the Township:

Littlebrook	610	618	- 8

At St. Paul's, there are 687 boys and girls enrolled in kindergarten through eighth grade, about 80 more than last year.

FUND NAMES CHAIRMEN

$190,000 Goal Sought. Progress in the enlistment of division chairmen and team captains is reported by Fred Blaicher, campaign chairman of the United Community Fund which is aiming at a record goal of $190,000, approximately $30,000 more than was raised last year. The acceptances were announced at a meeting of the campaign planning committee held at the home of Ray Bowers, United Fund president.

John Reeder, assistant campaign director, will be the liaison for all business divisions which comprise eight categories, with the Princeton Business Association furnishing a cooperating committee to be headed by Loar Quickle of the Princeton University Store. In the professional division, Dr. Alfred F. Cook Jr. will serve for the doctors and William Miller for the lawyers.

Paul Chesebro will be in charge of the education, health and welfare sections and J. P. Meyer, manager of the Princeton Bamberger's, will direct the shopping center operation. Lawrence Benson of Benson & Benson, with the aid of W. L. Davidson of Food Machinery and Chemical Corp., is chairman of the research organization campaign which has led in the number of increases and amount of pledges reported over the last several years. Arthur Everett of the First National Bank will be chairman of real estate, insurance and government divisions.

The public relations committee, headed by Edgar Gemmell of Princeton University's administrative staff, is working on literature, a new campaign progress sign for Palmer Square, sponsored advertisements, speakers, solicitor training, school cooperation and agency window displays on Nassau and Witherspoon Streets and at the shopping center.

Emphasizing that the money raised from the campaign will be spent almost entirely in Princeton.—Continued on Page 10 ton for the benefit of every citizen, Mr. Blalcher notes that the 20% increase in the Fund's goal means that each family need contribute only a slightly higher amount than last year. Elementary Arithmetic

A year ago, the Borough Board of Education was told that the 1957-58 academic year would close with a balance of $100,000. According to the annual report of superintendent B. Woodhull Davis, final figures show a balance of $95,374.56.
The actual budget of $1,203,392.31 was exceeded by $36,406.35 because of the need for two additional teachers, more janitorial help, tuition for educable children, more athletic equipment and more money for coaches' salaries. Besides, cafeteria costs increased because food went up and more children bought less food. Light and power was higher than expected, also.
However, this excess was amply covered by receipts which were $89,159.18 more than anyone thought they would be. This has left $52,752.83 to increase the free balance.
All excess items have been covered in this year's budget except teachers' salaries; four new teachers have been hired since the budget was completed last October, but Mr. Davis says that additional receipts will cover the extra expense.

"WE HOLD OUR HEADS HIGH"
Davis' Report on Borough Schools. Characterizing the past year as "a very turbulent one in the field of public education," B. Woodhull Davis, in his annual superintendent's report to the Borough Board of Education, stressed that "we have been able to hold our heads high and have found it unnecessary to make any drastic changes either in method or content in the program which has been evolving for many years."
Curriculum revision has been one of the major accomplishments of the Borough school system during the year just past. Mr. Davis reported on the development of a revised course of study for mathematics, grades one through eight, resulting in an entirely new arrangement of curriculum materials following closely the recommendations of the National Commission on Mathematics.

All sending districts that send pupils to Princeton High participated in this program so that, from now on, there will be uniform preparation for high school math in all sending districts. This fall, similar work will begin in science, to be followed by revision of language arts and social science curricula.
Forty-five mathematics teachers took part in the two in-service classes in modern mathematical concepts held during the spring semester, and Mr. Davis has said there may be similar classes this fall.
A new committee began this year to work with the school staff in order to find out how science instruction might be improved. The committee, composed of scientists and engineers working in the Princeton area, has explored several ways in which science instruction could be made more meaningful: special work with talented students; lending the schools specialized kinds of scientific equipment; arranging tours of plants and so on.

Achievement. According to the results of an extensive testing program, Borough second graders are on the 3.4 grade level, measured by national norms. Mr. Davis' report also said that each Borough grade measures at least a full grade ahead of its level on a national scale, and that grades six, seven and eight are no less than two years ahead of national norms.
Mr. Davis said that, in spite of the difficulties of getting into college, Princeton High School graduates who were properly qualified, have had no trouble and that a large majority of them enter the college of their choice.
In the current freshman class, 65% of the students have chosen the college preparatory program offered by the high school. This means about 300 freshmen in college preparatory work, or about twice the number that took the course four years ago, according to Mr. Davis.

ONE WORLD, MANY PROBLEMS: Asked TOWN TOPICS' Question of the Week concerning the most challenging problem facing the world today, Miss Barbara Bowman and W. Bryce Thompson IV discuss it a while—and wind up with entirely different answers. For theirs and other varied responses, see below.

Question of the Week

Question: What is the most challenging problem facing the world today?

Location: Around Princeton.

W. Bryce Thompson IV, 195 Nassau Street, real estate sales manager: The preservation of peace, further world acceptance, appreciation and backing of the UN, and the return to faith and religion by the leaders and peoples of the world. As for my own challenging problem, it's how to make my first million before I'm 30!

Miss Barbara Bowman, 43 Palmer Square, secretary: The most challenging question facing the world today is to what degree atomic power should be harnessed and whether or not it should be channelled exclusively for peace-time purposes and made available to ALL nations.

Robert Whitley, River Road, Titusville, furniture store owner: The Middle East situation is first. I approve very definitely of sending troops into Lebanon, but I think we should adopt a firmer attitude in all respects and towards everyone involved.

Ted Little, 44 Vandeventer Avenue, student at Princeton Theological Seminary: It's a moral problem—the lack of spiritual growth within people's lives in this country. We have no real convictions or purpose in life, because, I believe, of a faulty relationship with God. The United States has many advantages in higher education and advanced technology, but we haven't solved the problem of man getting along with himself and with others. It's a deeper problem than education and technology can answer.

Mrs. Harry H. Hall, 159 Terhune Road, housewife: The most important problem in today's news (and it may be resolved before long) is what to do about Red China's declaration of the 12-mile offshore limit of its domain which would include Formosa. Eisenhower has stated we will protect Formosa and the U.S. cannot possibly back away from that promise without jeopardizing our whole foreign policy. If Red China and the U.S. come to an im-passé on this situation, it will mean another war, perhaps of the Korean type, in which our boys would be involved. That's why it seems to me to be the most pressing problem facing us today.

David Aitken, 169 Jefferson Road, graduate student in English at Princeton University: Education is my answer. In the long run, educated intelligence can cope with any problem—and we can use a lot more of it in this country. I don't think more pay for teachers is the answer because what teachers want is respect and prestige for their profession, and I believe they lack this at the present.

Mrs. Robert Irven, 66 Tee-Ar Place, registered nurse and housewife: I feel our country rates poorly in education as compared to Europe, and I'm sure our children are just as smart as children abroad! The trouble is, we don't start "advanced" education early enough in languages, mathematics and science. I think children can begin learning such subjects in the fourth and fifth grades. I also believe we are falling behind in physical education (I don't mean just sports) because our children sit in front of the TV set too much and don't get outdoors. Another aspect of the education problem is that our colleges are overcrowded already and, if something isn't done to change the situation, there simply won't be room for all the candidates in 10 years, say. Some years ago, a high school education was enough, but not in these days of specialized knowledge.

Mrs. Cecil E. Leigh, 544 Mercer Road, housewife: I think getting settled with the Russians is the most important problem facing us today. There are so many world problems to discuss that I believe a conference at the Summit is the answer.

ONE YEAR LATER—DOUBLED FACILITIES—AND STILL GROWING: That's the fascinating story of Cambridge School in fast-expanding Kendall Park, which opened its new classroom building (left) in September, 1957, and found it necessary to open with two such units last week (newest addition on right). Principal Edward Kahler reported this week that current enrollment is 345, of which 163 are first, second and third graders using the new building while the remainder are kindergarten and fourth-through-eighth grade students using the year-old facility. When Cambridge first opened a year ago, registration was only 160—but it grew to 274 by spring. Kahler predicted a continuance of the rapid growth during the months ahead. ### ADULT SCHOOL PLANS Informal Courses Included. The Princeton Adult School, which opens its fall term October 2 at the high school, will include among its courses an informal lecture series on the history of Princeton and another on Greek ideas. The school's complete curriculum will appear in the September 16 issue of Town Topics. Alfred H. Bill, author of a number of books on Princeton and U.S. history, will give the area history series. In his opening talk, he will take his students on a hypothetical tour of Princeton describing the various points of interest. Detailed lectures will follow on the old Dutch trail, the Stony Brook settlement, John Stockton and the founding of the village of Princeton, the College of New Jersey, Princeton in the Revolution, Princeton as the capital of the U.S., "The Great Rebellion," the turnpike, the canal and the railroad. Commander Robert F. Stockton and presidential visits.

A. E. Raubitschek, associate professor of classics at Princeton University, will speak on the most influential ideas transmitted to the West from the Greeks, dividing his series into ten lectures. The topics to be covered are excellence, the soul, parts of the soul, the cardinal virtues, reason, education, persuasion, theoretical and practical philosophy, nature, custom and law and politics.

Minicograph outlines with further suggested reading will be distributed for each lecture. Prof. Raubitschek emphasizes the course is designed to be informative and interpretive rather than appreciative and critical.

MORE THEOLOGICAL GRANTS

Rockefeller Program Expands. The Rockefeller Brothers Theological Fellowship Program has increased the number of fellowships available to college seniors, graduate students and others from 45 to 65 annually. The grants are used to give those qualified a trial year at any accredited seminary to determine whether they wish to enter the parish ministry. The format is closely patterned after that of the Woodrow Wilson Fellowship program, set aside for the establishment of a Rockefeller doctoral fellowship program in religion. The funds will be given to promising PhD candidates at recognized seminaries or university graduate centers. Both programs are guided from the 163 Nassau Street office.

where the Rev. Walter D. Wagoner is executive director.

Prof. Whitney Oates, chairman of the classics department at Princeton University and Dr. John A. Mackay, president of Princeton Theological Seminary, are members of the board of directors with Dean Merrill Knapp of the University representing the fellowship program on the campus. Prof. R. B. Y. Scott, a member of the University's religion department, is on the selection committee for the doctoral program.

ROAST BEEF DINNER SET
Benefit at Rocky Hill. The Rocky Hill Fire Department will hold its annual Roast Beef Dinner on Saturday, September 20, at the First Reformed Church. Proceeds will help meet the cost of the new fire engine and an addition to the building.

Raymond Durling is chairman of the committee planning the event, with Raymond Whitlock and Douglas Schuessler assisting him. Tickets are $2 for adults, $1 for children.

DOOR PRIZES GALORE

What, No Kitchen Sink? When the new Princeton University Store officially opens for business this Friday at 36 University Place, it will display several hundred door prizes—valued at more than $7,000—which will be given away free in celebration of the store's Grand Opening. The list of gifts may not include a kitchen sink, but it certainly includes everything but, as the saying goes.

First prize—the only gift not on display—will be a Bermuda holiday for two, U-Store officials, undaunted by rumors that have accompanied recent holiday presents on different TV quiz shows, have assured that their prize trip will cover seven days and six nights—all expenses paid from New York City.

Second prize will include a round-trip flight via Pan American World Airways and a stay at the famous Castle Harbour Hotel.

Otherwise, the Grand Opening prizes range from a 36 volume of Robert Frost's poems to a $200 Zenith Space Command television set. There will be more TV sets, Ph. 24 21-inch Predicta and RCA's deluxe 17-inch portable receiver—plus such attractive items as a tape recorder and a 500 mm. camera by Raygram, a typewriter and an 8 mm. camera by Pailard, innumerable books and a wealth of wearing apparel.

To qualify for one of the prizes, Princetonians need only fill out a special stub and deposit it in one of several receptacles while visiting the new store anytime from Friday to September 27. On the latter date, stubs will be drawn to determine winners, who do not have to be on hand for the drawing in order to win.

OFF AND RUNNING

Wage Earner Reports Issued. Organized earlier this year, the Institute for Wage Earner Opinion has issued its initial reports—reports which will be released to nationwide newspapers on a weekly basis. The Institute, located in Research Center on State Road, is the brainchild of its director, John S. Mount, who left Gallup & Robinson Inc. after a decade with that firm in order to start his own business.

According to Mr. Mount, his Institute "interviews scientifically selected representative groups of Wage Earners and their wives, and reports their reactions to current problems. We report the vital differences of opinion between Wage Earners and their wives as well as between organized and unorganized workers. . . survey topics are selected by an advisory committee of top level search and public relations minds in the country."

The director stressed the significance of his organization's new service by noting that, during the past 20 years, the American Wage Earner class has become one of the most important in the country. At age 45, on time, he said, 55 per cent of the families in the United States are supported by blue-collar workers. "This particular age group of our population has created more news in the last 10 years than any other group in the country," Mr. Mount reported. "Their political influence during elections has been recently proved in dramatic ways. The recent activities of their union representatives have made some of the most interesting stories for newspaper readers across the country."

The Institute head pointed out that "the American Wage Earners stand in the middle or upper-middle income brackets." Not only do families of Wage Earners receive more than two-thirds of all wages and salaries in the United States, but the average bricklayer earns 20 per cent more per week than an average office manager, an electrician earns 17 per cent more than a senior draftsman and a truck driver earns 15 per cent more than the bank teller who cashes his checks.

"Even though the American Workingman wields tremendous influence at the polling booths and in the market place, too little effort has been made to understand

WHEN IT PAYS TO GO AROUND IN CIRCLES: Two short months ago, the spinning heap craze wasn't even a craze at all. Today, the multi-colored plastic toys represent a $20 million dollar business, with more than 20,000,000 having been sold so far. "Spin-A-Mop," the first company in production, has at least 15 rivals in the field—10 of them in the past three weeks. Zinders, 102 Nassau Street, sold out of the popular item a week ago, has high hopes it will prove as "hot" a commodity as the "flying saucers" were last year. "Wardworth's, 116 Nassau, with saleslady Annette Wenner and her colleagues demonstrating as well as peddling the hoops, has an abundant supply which is dwindling like the proverbial, fast-moving hotcakes.

him and his new social class," according to Mr. Mount, who intends to correct this situation. "Political and business leaders express a strong need for information about what motivates the worker to act, how does the Wage Earner family feel about the events that take place and how do their reactions affect the lives of other people in the country."

CHANGING SCENE

Signs of Business Growth. Princeton recorded a variety of business changes this past week. They indicated the town is extremely healthy business-wise, what with expansion and growth very much in evidence in the changes.

Verbeyst French Dry Cleaning, a long-established local firm on Tulane Street, announced through its owner, Louis Verbeyst, that additional property has been purchased—the 65 by 120-foot building, formerly owned by Labiere's of Garage, that lies directly north of the cleaning company on Tulane. Commenting on the purchase, though not the purchase price, Mr. Verbeyst said nothing is planned for the added structure right now, but he has hopes of using it for parking, extra services, office space or even a drive-in facility in the future. Meanwhile, the Town Saw Shop and electrical contractor R. F. Johnson will continue to occupy portions of the building.

Many of the important and fascinating achievements by intellectual adventures over the centuries are presented here from the question of what we mean when we say "the sun comes up" to the discovery of non-commutative algebra.

THE UNIVERSE

(Paperbound) $1.45

How big is the universe? When did it start? What is its shape? This book aims to display the whole structure of today's ideas about the cosmic, non-technical language. ### INJURIES HIT HARD

Tigers Lose Two Regulars. Over a period of years, Princeton's football fortunes have occasionally been given a downward turn by the sudden unavailability of a player for the entire season. Among those who have been forced to the sidelines by injury were Ralph "Bo" Willis, who eventually became a first-string quarterback; Sargent Karch, a capable tailback; Don MacElwee, a dependable end; and Bill MacMillan, a starting member of the backfield on the unbeaten freshmen two years ago.

At no time within memory, however, has the news that came from the Blairstown training camp last week been duplicated. Jim Stansbury, defined by Dick Colman as "our number one end," has been forced off the squad by a back injury. Frank Schultz, slated for the starting berth at right tackle, is out of action with recurring headaches, which could require his withdrawal from the game.

At a time when Princeton's problems are, numerically speaking, greatest in the line, loss of two players who were certain to hold down starting assignments is a severe blow. Both Stansbury and Schultz were good enough to win their letters as sophomores, the former winning the regular left end job before the opening game and holding it throughout the year.

Six-two and 185, Stansbury was particularly good on defense, playing a major part in a rebuilt line that helped rank the Tigers first in the east last season in yards gained rushing by the opposition (a mere 108.2 per game). He sustained the back injury in last year's Dartmouth contest, and when it did not respond to treatment, wrote Colman just before pre-season training began that he could not play this fall.

Schultz, a solid 6-2, 195-pounder, has been undergoing a thorough medical check for headaches that plagued him a part of last season. If the medical staff determines that danger from concussion exists, his football career will necessarily come to a halt.

Other than that, a good 10 to 12 players have been kept from contact with the inevitable early-season muscle pulls, bruises, and so forth—none of them serious. Loss of the two linemen, however, will necessitate unwelcome personnel changes to remedy the shortage—and the Tigers have already undergone a sizeable number of these in preparation for defense of the Ivy title. Even a good squad cannot absorb this switching in assignments indefinitely without showing telltale signs of weakness.

A Look at the Lineup. It will be another ten days before the lineup that will hear the opening whistle on September 27 approaches its final stage. As the second week of practice at Blairstown progressed, however, these players were being given greatest consideration by the coaching staff:

Ends—Bob Shephardson, a 6-4, 185-lb. senior has the starting assignment vacated by Stansbury. He alternated at left end with Stansbury last year, and his height gives him pass-receiving potential. Mike Conway, 10-1/2 inches shorter and 15 pounds heavier, will spell Shephardson. On the other side of the line, Ed

CHEAPER BY THE DOZEN: With the 1958-59 bowling season in full swing as of this week, Dave Burrough, proprietor of Princeton Recreation Center, poses amidst machinery that controls one of the automatic pinsetters used behind each alley at his 12-lane emporium. Each set of machinery is worth several thousand dollars. The pins, valued at $4-plus apiece, are good for a year's punishment, but must be cleaned once a month—with milk and steel wool. For the season's first report from PRC, see Bowling Notes. (Photo by Alan Richards)

Kostelnik, 6-0, 195, appears to be a fixture after winning his letter as a sophomore. Big Gary Trout (6-2, 207), potentially the best punter on the squad, is the probable replacement for Kostelnik.

Tackles—Senior letterman Gene Forcione, a big 215 pounds, is currently the only sure starter at this position. Gordie Batchelder, a 187-lb. junior who saw little action last fall, has been moved into the spot temporarily vacated by Schultz. Bob Rock, 210-lb. senior, is also on this side of the line, but it is possible that Bob Fisher, 200-lb. junior, may fit into the picture here. Fisher won his letter as a tackle a year ago, was switched to guard to bolster a graduation-caused weakness there and now goes back to his original berth.

Guards—Art Max, another sophomore letterman in 1957, and Paul Warwick, 205-lb. senior, are holding down the starting roles, with Barry Bates and senior Joe DeDeo set to alternate with them. If there is to be any depth in the middle of the line, it will have to come from the "green peas" sophomore crop.

Center—Frank Sztevez, of course—the 195-lb. junior who saw more action last year than any other player. He's a real standout—but the question of a replacement for him is one of the major Blairstown problems. The nick will probably be made from sophomores Dick Eckfeldt and Jerry Sullivan, and senior Howie Hudson.

Wingback—Senior John Heyd, a small but versatile soul who can play both wingback and tailback, has been working at the former position. The best bet, however, is that sophomore Mike Iestman will start at wingback. Slowed by a minor injury, he has the ability as a hard-running triple-threat to win the regular assignment.

Quarterback—Senior Gene Locks, a good but light field general, and junior Mike Ippolito, a converted wingback, are alternating at this vital position. The latter's 28-pound weight advantage, top blocking ability and triple threat potential are expected to give him the edge, but the strait-

DICK WOOD
Princeton High Line Coach

"What does football mean to him? Why, that's his life—he eats and sleeps it. I wouldn't be surprised if football is the real reason he's stayed in town all these years."

So confided Mrs. Richard H. Wood, wife of Princeton High School's able line coach, who has started his 13th season as one of Joe Jorgini's valued assistants. And, whether Mrs. Wood is entirely correct or not, football certainly has played a major role in Dick Wood's life.

The line coach was a Little Tiger performer himself almost three decades ago, playing tackle and serving as captain in his senior year, the 1931 season. He went on for three years of football at Trenton State Teachers College and, after launching a coaching career that called for several years of instruction at Chanote Field, Ill., during World War II, he re-entered the PHS football picture in 1946, the same fall Jorgini took over as head coach.

Jorgini, who prefers to call his aides by the more meaningful title of "associate," noted this week that he and Wood handled the varsity and junior varsity together — until the staff was expanded. Then, Wood began concentrating on his specialty, the line, particularly offense. "Dick has been largely responsible for our record over the past dozen years," Jorgini commented, adding that PHS is included in the list of New Jersey's top 10 high school teams of the last quarter-century.

Football has always been a part of the premises at 35 Maple Street, the Wood residence. Dick Jr., a graduate of PHS, played halfback for the University of Pennsylvania, while Alan, a PHS sophomore, is a member of the current Blue and White squad. Craig and Tommy, students at St. Paul's School, have hopes of earning football letters at Princeton High in the future, so apparently only Karen, a year old, will have to get her plunkin' thrills from the sidelines.

With exception of those few years, Dick Wood has taught crafts at PHS since 1937. Former students speak highly of his ability in the shop. Jorgini and a dozen PHS football teams speak highly of his craftsmanship on the gridiron.

egy Lacks showed while pinching hitting for Jack Sapoch last fall will get him into action consistently.

Fullback—Captain Fred Tiley, one of the east's best—as indicative of his runner-up spot in yardage rushing in Ivy competition last year, despite the fact that he goes through the middle and most other backs run to the outside. Behind Tiley are Robin Prince, a junior who at 204 is the biggest back on the squad, and Don Kornrumpf, up from last year's freshman.

Tackle—Dan Sachs, the only all-Ivy selection as a sophomore, is a fixture as long as the chronic ankle trouble that has cut into his action during the past two seasons does not return. Lloyd, if relieved of his wingback chores, is his probable replacement, with junior Dick George and sophomore Jack Sullivan other possible bets there.

The squad will be back here this Friday for pictures to be taken by press photographers at University Field, and then returns to Blairstown for a final week of two-day drills. A scrimmage will be staged here on Saturday, September 20, against Lehigh, but the public will not be admitted.

TEST FOR LITTLE TIGERS

To scrimmage New Brunswick, just 10 days after the opening of fall football practice, Princeton High's Little Tigers will scrimmage New Brunswick's Zebrus under "game conditions" this Saturday morning. PHS Coach Joe Jorgini has a feeling he will be able to answer a lot of important questions following the key session, scheduled for 9:30 at Har's Field.

The Blue and White head man and his coaching colleagues have expressed satisfaction concerning results realized during the early days of conditioning for the eight-game campaign ahead. An intra-squad scrimmage last Saturday produced a number of revelations, and, fortunately, no serious injuries. So far, Jorgini and Gerry Groninger, the staff's defensive calculator, have suffered the most painful bruises—a pair of spiked ankles.

While it is too soon to tell for sure, Jorgini thinks the Little Tigers may have added valuable material in the form of at least three transfer students. Junior John Kilgore has looked impressive at end and junior Ted Merced has earned attention running from the No. 3 back position. Sophomore Tony Ceremello, a 110-pound tackle recruit from Lawrenceville, has the coaches hoping he will help solve one of many line problems.

As TOWN TOPICS' sports section went to press, Jorgini was still negotiating for a scrimmage with Lambertville High, which he thought might be arranged for this Wednesday. Out-inter-scholastic, pre-season matches will be sought for September 17 and 20 as the PHS coaches go all-out to determine glaring weaknesses before the first kickoff that really counts. The date of that boot, in Mount Holly, is rapidly approaching: September 27.

HUN GRID DILEMMA

Many Linemen, Few Backs. Football practice sessions at Princeton will get underway this Friday with Hawley's selection faced with a real dilemma at the start of his third campaign as head coach. Waterman will commence workouts with a happy assortment of beefy, experienced linemen, but a dearth of backs that could very well spell trouble ahead for the Red and Black. Counting his blessings, first, Waterman noted that he'll have six letter-winning returnees coming back to bolster his forward wall, plus at least a half-dozen new students whose grid credentials indicate they will aid the Johnny Huns in a great deal. As for our backfield situation, I'd say this might be the year," observed the able head coach, whose charges posted a 2-5 record last fall.

The "backfield situation" isn't good. Co-Captain Charley Bennett will give the quarterback slot a veteran's touch, but the rest of the picture remains a big question mark at this early juncture. Randy Reynolds, one of Waterman's highest halfback hopes, has transferred to another school, while Tommy Petrone, the varsity hometown product, may not be able to complete due to a '57 injury. Letterman John Ward will be at full, but needs considerable game experience to qualify as a first-rate first-stringer. Co-Captain Cal Stanny, a rock-ribbed tackle, will anchor the talent-laden line that could give Waterman his best season to date. If he can find backs to carry the ball over most lines, the Johnny Huns will open their seven-game slate in Pennington on October 4 against Pennington Prep.

BOWLING NOTES

Season's First Week. Fred Goetz and Margaret Drummond shared the kegging spotlight at the Recreation Center this past week as the 12-team Tri-County Firemen's League and the eight-team Women's Industrial League had the dual honor of opening the 1958-59 bowling season here. Goetz fired a 223 game, high for the week among the firefighters, while Mrs. Drummond started the distaff campaign with a creditable 203.

SOFTBALL "CLEAN SWEEP" MADE BY CENERINO'S: After winning the Princeton Community Softball League's regular-season title with a 22-6 record and taking the playoffs championship with five straight victories, Cenerino's A.C. last Saturday blanked the Leaps All-Stars, 4-0. Performers for the "clean sweep" club included (left to right, kneeling) Mack Brockington, Jim Carter, Warren Huff, Lou Higgins and Ollie Kauffman and (left to right, standing) Duke James, Wilton Kennedy, Andy Tragas, Lloyd Banks, Mac McEwen and Bink Fisher, PCSL chairman. Fisher presented trophies to Cenerino's—the large, Princeton Business Association-donated award for the regular season, the smaller, league-sponsored trophy for the playoffs. category were Doug Watson, 214; Stan Tantum, 217; Pat DeAngelo, 210; Norm Luck, 207; Alex Duthie, 205; Glib Ireland, 201; and Bucky Cupples, 200. Betty Kleber, with a 185 score, was Margaret's closest competitor for high laurels, trailed by Lillian Burrough, 179; Betty Frazee, 179; and Peg Brown, 168.

Four teams—Kingston, Mercer Engine Company No. 3, KFD and Hook & Ladder "H"—swept their first-round matches in the Tri-County loop, while Lawrenceville and Dutch Neck managed to win two of three games. In the Women's Industrial League, Nassau Service, Decker's, Turney Motors and the Lucky Strikes started well with a half-dozen points apiece.

CHAMPIONSHIP FORM

Cenerino's Blanks All-Stars. Exhibiting some of the same class that won them the Princeton Community Softball League championship for 1958, members of Cenerino's A.C. whitewashed the circuit's All-Stars, 4-0, in a fitting climax to the season last Saturday afternoon. The game—a scorching, scoreless pitchers' duel until the bottom of the seventh inning—was played in perfect weather before a vocal crowd of several hundred at University Field.

As anticipated, Mack Brockington of the champions and Lou DiMeglio, representing Sannino's, hurled fine ball in another of their spirited battles. Brockington allowed only three scattered safeties and struck out 13 in posting the well-deserved victory. DiMeglio gave up a lone hit, an inconsequential first-inning triple by Warren Huff, before retiring in favor of the Sportsmen's Harry Kahny, who absorbed the defeat.

Cenerino's got to Kahny and the All-Stars in the seventh frame, although no earned runs were scored until the eighth. Brockington singled to aid his own cause, moved around when Lou Higgins' double-play grounder was bobbed for a costly error, and both runners tallied as Jim Carter produced a timely blow.

In the eighth, when the contest was put on ice, Duke James led off with a single, Mac McEwen followed with a hit and two runs came across on a fielder's choice and a sacrifice fly by Brockington. The victors utilized their safeties well, registering four markers on a meagre output of five hits.

The All-Stars missed three scoring opportunities during the course of the nine-inning encounter. George Boccantuso of Sannino's opened the first with a solid single, only to watch Brockington bear down and handle the next three batters with ease. In the fifth, the Sportsmen's Joe Toto blasted a three-bagger, but it came with two out—and between a pair of All-Star strikeouts. Ken Luck's leadoff blow in the seventh was nullified as the All-Star, representing Drake's, tried to stretch it to a double.

A highlight of the annual benefit event was the presentation of two trophies by Bink Fisher, PCSL chairman. A Princeton Business Association-donated trophy went to Cenerino's for the club's regular-season championship, while a loop-sponsored award went to the same team for its success in the recent playoffs.

GOLF BENEFIT PLANS SET

Prizes in Three Categories. Final plans have been made for the upcoming Golf Day Saturday for the benefit of Princeton Hospital at the Forsgate Country Club Saturday. The competing golfers will be divided into three groups to give experts and duffers equal chances at the prizes offered in the contest sponsored by the Women's Auxiliary of the hospital.

For the better players there will be categories based on gross score and handicap score, others will play under the Galloway System, designed to give them an advantage. Prizes and trophies worth up to $500 will be awarded in each of these groups.

The Golf Day will also feature an all-day hole-in-one competition. The 510 greens fee for the day will include a buffet luncheon. A dinner-dance, starting at 8 p.m., is scheduled to wind-up the day, with a Ford Thunderbird to be raffled off during the evening. Tickets for the tournament and dance may be obtained from Mrs. Kenneth J. Dawson and Mrs. David B. Miller, Walnut 4-0500. Reservations for a starting time may be made with James Warren, the club's pro, at Jamesburg 1-1020.

ARCHERY TOURNAMENT Police to Sponsor Competition. Boys and girls who went through Police Youth Program's archery program earlier this summer will get a chance to test their skill this weekend. The Policemen's Benevolent Association is sponsoring a tournament at 12:30 p.m. Saturday, with prizes for the top three performers in each age group.

The PBA also sponsored a tennis tournament at the end of an eight-week course of instruction, with 42 children competing under the supervision of Patrolman James Kopliner. In the 8 to 11 group, Doug Watson was the winner and Bill McQuade, second; in the 12 and over group, June Butterless, winner, and John Lindstrom, second. The most improved players were: Garry Blaisdell in the 8 to 11 group, Chuck Houser in the 12 to 14 group, and Dale McQuade in the 15 and over group.

Young baseball players also got help from the PBA this summer, as 35 boys from 8 to 12 received instruction two or three times a week during the past five weeks. Patrolmen John Markuson, Stanley Donald, Harry Kahny, Mike Carnevale and Dan Hagedorn helped with this program.

"Just like being at Rumson Reading Institute"

That's what so many of our students say when they report back after taking college boards or SSATs (preparatory school exams). Perhaps that's because we have the same concern for excellence in our Language Arts course (reading, English composition, vocabulary, and spelling) that the examiners have. Not that schools in general are uninterested - but our small carefully grouped classes (7th grade through college) permit us to set up an especially favorable situation for coaching students who are planning on college. That may be why so many boys and girls commute considerable distances to our weekday evening or Saturday morning classes. This summer session included students from over 100 schools in New Jersey, New York, Pennsylvania, and New England.
